INDEX

VOLUME 30 (1987)

Number 1, Spring, Japan and the Sea: Noriyuki Nasu, Introduction—Osamu Sato, The Japanese Fisheries System; Takeji Fujii and Seikichi Mishima, The Salmon Fishery; Akira Fuji, Aquaculture and Mariculture; Akito Kawamura, Whaling and Research—Takashi Mayama, The Japanese Marine Science and Technology Center; Shinichi Takagawa, Deep Submersible Project (6,500 m); Hiroshi Hotta, Deep Sea Research around Japan; Yoshitaka Odani, Kaiyo, a Unique Research Vessel; Takayoshi Toyota and Toshimitsu Nakashima, Using Deep Seawater for Biological Production; Takeaki Miyazaki, Wave Power Generator Kaimei; Hitoshi Hotta, Recovery of Uranium from Seawater—Takahisa Nemoto, Japan's Ocean Research Institute—Masamichi Murakawa, Marine Pollution and Countermeasures in Japan—Takehiko Ishihara, Radioactive Waste Disposal—Kenji Hotta, The Use of Ocean Space in Japan—Isao Kubota, Japan's Weather Service and the Sea, and The Western Pacific and El Niño—Yasushi Kitano and Masayuki Tanaka, The Atmospheric Carbon Dioxide Problem—Zempei Yamashita, Cormorant Fishing on the Nagara River—Paul R. Ryan, Profile: The Emperor of Japan: Marine Biologist—Letters—Book Reviews.

Number 2, Summer, The Galápagos Marine Resources Reserve: León Febres Cordero, President of Ecuador, Foreword, and President's Decree of Galápagos Marine Resources Reserve—Roque Sevilla, A Promise to the Sea, and the Politics of the Decree—James M. Broadus, The Galápagos Marine Resources Reserve and Tourism Development—Efrain Pérez Comacho, Ecuadorian Law and the Galápagos Marine Reserve; Kilaparti Ramakrishna, International Issues of the Galápagos Marine Reserve—Godfrey Merlen, Diving in the Galápagos—John E. McCosker, The Fishes of the Galápagos Islands—Henk W. Kasteleijn, Marine Biological Research in the Galápagos: Past, Present, and Future—Gary R. Robinson, Negative Effects of the 1982–83 El Niño on Galápagos Marine Life—Hal Whitehead, Sperm Whale Behavior on the Galápagos Grounds—Andrew Laurie, Marine Iguanas: Living on the Ocean Margin—Mitchell W. Colgan and David L. Malmquist, The Urvina Bay Uplift: A Dry Trek Through a Galápagos Coral Reef—Shirley A. Pomponi and Susan van Hoek, A Search for Unique Drugs in the Galápagos Underwater Environment—Charles Darwin, History: The Voyage of the Beagle, Chapter 17 (edited)—Frank J. Sulloway, History: Darwin in the Galápagos: Three Myths—Bruce E. Epler, History: Whalers, Whales, and Tortoises—Paul R. Ryan, The Editor's Log: Galápagos Tales—Book Reviews.

Number 3, Fall, Columbus, Sea-Level Rise, Chernobyl, Plastics, TBT: Philip L. Richardson and Roger A. Goldsmith, The Columbus Landfall: The Voyage Track Corrected for Winds and Currents—Robert D. Ballard, Christopher von Alt and William J. Hersey III, Live Deep-Sea Expedition Video Coverage Planned for Scientists Ashore, Educational Institutions—Graham S. Giese and David G. Aubrey, Losing Coastal Upland to Relative Sea-Level Rise: 3 Scenarios for Massachusetts—Kenneth O. Buessler, Chernobyl: Oceanographic Studies in the Black Sea—Lynne Carter Hanson and Sylvia A. Earle, Submersibles for Scientists—Ben Patrusky, Mass Extinctions: Volcanic, or Extraterrestrial Causes, or Both?—Diane K. Stoecker, Photosynthesis Found in Some Single-Cell Marine Animals—T. M. Hawley, The Institute for Naval Oceanography—R. Jude Wilber, Plastic in the North Atlantic—Michael A. Champ and Frank L. Lowenstein, Concerns: TBT: The Dilemma of High-Technology Antifouling Paints—Timothy K. Eichenberg, Concerns: Supreme Court Rules Against Public Beach Access—Michelle K. Slowey, Profile: Robert George Weeks: A Man of Many Skills—Letters—Books Received.

Number 4, Winter, Caribbean Marine Science: John D. Negroponte, Introduction: Caribbean Marine Science—John C. Ogden, Cooperative Coastal Ecology at Caribbean Marine Laboratories—Klaus Rützler and Candy Feller, Mangrove Swamp Communities—Donald K. Atwood, Fred J. Burton, Jorge E. Corredor, George R. Harvey, Alfonso J. Mata-Jimenez, Alfonso Vasquez-Botello, and Barry A. Wade, Petroleum Pollution in the Caribbean—A. Meriwether Wilson, Caribbean Marine Resources: A Report on Economic Opportunities—William P. Dillon, N. Terence Edgar, Kathryn M. Scanlon, and Kim. D. Klitgord, Geology of the Caribbean—Frank Gable, Changing Climate and Caribbean Coastlines—Mel Goodwin, Changing Times for Caribbean Fisheries—Daniel O. Suman, Intermediate Technologies for Small-Scale Fishermen in the Caribbean—Ernest H. Williams, Jr., and Lucy Bunkley Williams, Caribbean Mass Mortalities: A Problem With A Solution—James H. W. Hain, Belize—Voices from the Caribbean: Jeremy D. Woodley, Jamaica: Managing Marine Resources; Jeremy B. C. Jackson, Panama: Protection of the Tropics—Nathalie F. R. Ward, Concerns: The Whalers of Bequia—Ambler H. Moss, Jr., Concerns: The Future of the Panama Canal—Paul R. Ryan, Profile: Athelstan Spilhaus: Renaissance Man—Letters—Book Reviews—Index.

INDEX

VOLUME 30 (1987)

Number 1, Spring, Japan and the Sea: Noriyuki Nasu, Introduction—Osamu Sato, The Japanese Fisheries System; Takeji Fujii and Seikichi Mishima, The Salmon Fishery; Akira Fuji, Aquaculture and Mariculture; Akito Kawamura, Whaling and Research—Takashi Mayama, The Japanese Marine Science and Technology Center; Shinichi Takagawa, Deep Submersible Project (6,500 m); Hiroshi Hotta, Deep Sea Research around Japan; Yoshitaka Odani, Kaiyo, a Unique Research Vessel; Takayoshi Toyota and Toshimitsu Nakashima, Using Deep Seawater for Biological Production; Takeaki Miyazaki, Wave Power Generator Kaimei; Hitoshi Hotta, Recovery of Uranium from Seawater—Takahisa Nemoto, Japan's Ocean Research Institute—Masamichi Murakawa, Marine Pollution and Countermeasures in Japan—Takehiko Ishihara, Radioactive Waste Disposal—Kenji Hotta, The Use of Ocean Space in Japan—Isao Kubota, Japan's Weather Service and the Sea, and The Western Pacific and El Niño—Yasushi Kitano and Masayuki Tanaka, The Atmospheric Carbon Dioxide Problem—Zempei Yamashita, Cormorant Fishing on the Nagara River—Paul R. Ryan, Profile: The Emperor of Japan: Marine Biologist—Letters—Book Reviews.

Number 2, Summer, The Galápagos Marine Resources Reserve: León Febres Cordero, President of Ecuador, Foreword, and President's Decree of Galápagos Marine Resources Reserve—Roque Sevilla, A Promise to the Sea, and the Politics of the Decree—James M. Broadus, The Galápagos Marine Resources Reserve and Tourism Development—Efrain Pérez Comacho, Ecuadorian Law and the Galápagos Marine Reserve; Kilaparti Ramakrishna, International Issues of the Galápagos Marine Reserve—Godfrey Merlen, Diving in the Galápagos—John E. McCosker, The Fishes of the Galápagos Islands—Henk W. Kasteleijn, Marine Biological Research in the Galápagos: Past, Present, and Future—Gary R. Robinson, Negative Effects of the 1982–83 El Niño on Galápagos Marine Life—Hal Whitehead, Sperm Whale Behavior on the Galápagos Grounds—Andrew Laurie, Marine Iguanas: Living on the Ocean Margin—Mitchell W. Colgan and David L. Malmquist, The Urvina Bay Uplift: A Dry Trek Through a Galápagos Coral Reef—Shirley A. Pomponi and Susan van Hoek, A Search for Unique Drugs in the Galápagos Underwater Environment—Charles Darwin, History: The Voyage of the Beagle, Chapter 17 (edited)—Frank J. Sulloway, History: Darwin in the Galápagos: Three Myths—Bruce E. Epler, History: Whalers, Whales, and Tortoises—Paul R. Ryan, The Editor's Log: Galápagos Tales—Book Reviews.

Number 3, Fall, Columbus, Sea-Level Rise, Chernobyl, Plastics, TBT: Philip L. Richardson and Roger A. Goldsmith, The Columbus Landfall: The Voyage Track Corrected for Winds and Currents—Robert D. Ballard, Christopher von Alt and William J. Hersey III, Live Deep-Sea Expedition Video Coverage Planned for Scientists Ashore, Educational Institutions—Graham S. Giese and David G. Aubrey, Losing Coastal Upland to Relative Sea-Level Rise: 3 Scenarios for Massachusetts—Kenneth O. Buessler, Chernobyl: Oceanographic Studies in the Black Sea—Lynne Carter Hanson and Sylvia A. Earle, Submersibles for Scientists—Ben Patrusky, Mass Extinctions: Volcanic, or Extraterrestrial Causes, or Both?—Diane K. Stoecker, Photosynthesis Found in Some Single-Cell Marine Animals—T. M. Hawley, The Institute for Naval Oceanography—R. Jude Wilber, Plastic in the North Atlantic—Michael A. Champ and Frank L. Lowenstein, Concerns: TBT: The Dilemma of High-Technology Antifouling Paints—Timothy K. Eichenberg, Concerns: Supreme Court Rules Against Public Beach Access—Michelle K. Slowey, Profile: Robert George Weeks: A Man of Many Skills—Letters—Books Received.

Number 4, Winter, Caribbean Marine Science: John D. Negroponte, Introduction: Caribbean Marine Science—John C. Ogden, Cooperative Coastal Ecology at Caribbean Marine Laboratories—Klaus Rützler and Candy Feller, Mangrove Swamp Communities—Donald K. Atwood, Fred J. Burton, Jorge E. Corredor, George R. Harvey, Alfonso J. Mata-Jimenez, Alfonso Vasquez-Botello, and Barry A. Wade, Petroleum Pollution in the Caribbean—A. Meriwether Wilson, Caribbean Marine Resources: A Report on Economic Opportunities—William P. Dillon, N. Terence Edgar, Kathryn M. Scanlon, and Kim. D. Klitgord, Geology of the Caribbean—Frank Gable, Changing Climate and Caribbean Coastlines—Mel Goodwin, Changing Times for Caribbean Fisheries—Daniel O. Suman, Intermediate Technologies for Small-Scale Fishermen in the Caribbean—Ernest H. Williams, Jr., and Lucy Bunkley Williams, Caribbean Mass Mortalities: A Problem With A Solution—James H. W. Hain, Belize—Voices from the Caribbean: Jeremy D. Woodley, Jamaica: Managing Marine Resources; Jeremy B. C. Jackson, Panama: Protection of the Tropics—Nathalie F. R. Ward, Concerns: The Whalers of Bequia—Ambler H. Moss, Jr., Concerns: The Future of the Panama Canal—Paul R. Ryan, Profile: Athelstan Spilhaus: Renaissance Man—Letters—Book Reviews—Index.